

Hospital go-ahead after 25-year wait

But is the prognosis another quarter century before the beds arrive?

Gentle curves: Shape of the new hospital is captured in the artist's sketch (above) as the Coldeast site (right) awaits the first digger.

IT'S BEEN hanging around for 25 years in the waiting room, but this month the trauma finally ended when the community hospital was given the all-clear.

Initially, it will not be a hospital in the true sense because there are no beds in Phase 1, but there will be space for a two-storey extension with beds.

The Borough Council's planners approved plans for the new hospital at Coldeast with parking for 120 cars on October 1 and work should begin soon.

It was hoped that access to the hospital could have been achieved via Cold East Way, but both the Primary Care Trust (PCT) and the Hampshire County Council argued that this was not possible.

The entrance will be via a new access on Brook Lane, which will mean some tree loss although the curved roadway should ensure that the visual damage will be kept to a minimum.

Councillor David Swanbrow, Executive

Member for Planning and Transportation, said: "All traffic studies suggest that traffic on Brook Lane as a result of the hospital will be only marginally increased."

The building will be of single-storey design in the shape of a gentle curve. It will be built on a part of the Coldeast site that was reserved for health facilities in the 2000 Fareham Local Plan Review.

High quality care

The hospital will provide a brand new facility that will focus on the needs of the local community and improve patients' access to high quality health care close to their homes.

There will be diagnostic and imaging facilities with space reserved for a mobile MRI scanner. Services currently provided by the Sylvan Clinic will transfer to the new facility.

These amenities should save many residents having to make visits to Gosport or Portsmouth for diagnosis or treatment.

Acute conditions will still be treated at Queen Alexandra Hospital in Portsmouth.

Free parking

The PCT originally wanted to charge patients for using the car park, but after pressure from local councillors it has been agreed that the use of the car park will be free for the first 3 hours.

"This should ensure that most patients visiting the hospital will not have to pay for parking, but will meet the PCT's requirement to prevent the car park being used as a free all-day car park for commuters using Swanwick Station," said Councillor Swanbrow.

He added: "Fareham has waited a long time for a community hospital. What has been approved may not yet be all that residents want but it is a start.

"Further facilities that would normally be found in a hospital will, hopefully, follow before another 25 years are up."

New look West Street wins top award in regional 'In Bloom' contest

FAREHAM'S new-look West Street won the Best New Commercial Landscape award in the South and South East in Bloom contest.

The day was crowned by Fareham scooping the overall winners prize for the fifth year running and a gold medal in the Large Town/Small City category at the regional awards ceremony in Crawley.

The sensory garden in Osborn Road won the Best Small Park category and a gold medal and the Fareham in Bloom team won the Community Involvement Award for their outstanding work over the past 13 years.

WARD NEWS BRIEFS

Planning changes

The Government has changed planning rules making it easier for people to make changes to their property by building extensions, erecting garages or sheds etc.

From October 1, many changes no longer require planning permission.

For example, you may be able to build a two-storey extension on the back of your house without planning permission provided it meets certain guidelines.

Well met

A successful 'Meet the Cartwrights Supper' was held in July which was attended by 32 people, including Fareham MP Mark Hoban and his wife, Fiona. Much needed funds were raised for the Association.

Bring and buy

The next social event will be a Christmas coffee morning with a bring & buy stall and tombola to be held on Saturday, December 6 by kind permission of Mrs Ann Estlin.

Blue murder

Conservatives are planning a 'Murder Mystery' evening on February 28, 2009.

How to join in

Full details of social events are available from the Warsash Conservative Association secretary Ruth Cartwright on 01489 578519. If you would like to become a member of the Party, please also contact Ruth.

Opening soon: new distributor road will ease Warsash traffic

THE NEW distributor from Dibbles Road through the old Warsash Motors site to Warsash Road roundabout should open soon and ease traffic flow in the area.

Access to Warsash Road from Cutter Avenue will be closed.

This completes a long-standing Hampshire County Council commitment to address the safety aspects of exiting from Schooner Avenue so close to the bend in Warsash Road.

County Councillor Keith Evans said: "The work, which has been completed

Litter louts cost taxpayers £1m a year

WHILE Fareham taxpayers fork out £1m a year to clear up litter, European towns are exceptionally clean and tidy compared to those in Britain.

Executive Member for Streetscene Councillor Brian Bayford: "Litter isn't casually dropped as seems to be the fashion in the UK."

Fareham Council spends about £1m cleaning up litter – 1,213 tonnes of it in 2007-08.

There are over 650 litter bins in the Borough, each costing around £200 a year to empty.

This year, over £200,000 has been spent to provide extra sweeping machines and more staff.

A Clean and Tidy Neighbourhood Fund has been set up to deal with areas not in Council ownership, where owners cannot be identified or land is in multiple ownership.

Funds may be used towards:

- Cost of removing litter and fly tipping.
- Cutting back undergrowth on small areas of abandoned land.
- Removing graffiti from private property.
- Supporting community clean-ups.

Community groups, including volunteers, Scouts, Guides, residents, schools etc, can apply for up to £500.

You can apply at any time. Contact 01329 82447/8

No more sitting on fence for noisy teenagers

Seat of problem: Plans are in hand to remove it.

A FENCE is causing offence in Schooner Way, Warsash.

Youths use the low wooden barrier bordering the open space opposite Knights Close as a meeting point and cause a disturbance.

Councillor Trevor Cartwright said anti-social behaviour in Schooner Way and other areas of Warsash and Locks Heath had been tackled by a joint agency group set up in 2007 to find solutions and had reduced the number of incidents by improving facilities for young people.

Initially, reported complaints of anti-social behaviour around Schooner Way had stayed at a low level, but over recent weeks youth nuisance on Schooner Way had increased due to the fence becoming a meeting point.

Fareham Council's Parks Team is considering replacing the low fence with shaped posts which would maintain a boundary, while at the same time removing seating opportunities.

No action will be taken until residents have been consulted.

County may face legal challenge over gravel plan decision

THE PROCESS to bring the County Council's recommendations for mineral extraction before a government planning inspector is effectively on hold due to a possible legal hitch.

Although the County removed Brownich and Chilling from its list after a storm of protest, its recommendations still have to be accepted by the Government.

This is because of a claim that the basis of the recommendations is 'a County determined' reduction from that required by the government in their guidance paper (from 2.3m tonnes per year down to 1.82m tonnes) which could render the report 'illegal'.

It is possible this argument could be sustained so the timetable for this submission is now dependent on the progress on the modifications to the aggregates targets in the South East Plan.

A fundamental issue is that if Hampshire's annual volume is reduced another county will have to accept an increase.

When plans were announced earlier in the year to rip up 740 acres of countryside right down to Solent shore to extract 8m tonnes of sand and gravel, there was a public outcry.

Residents formed an action group – Campaign Against Mineral Extraction and Landfill (CAMEL) – and packed a public meeting at Brookfield School.

Western Wards councillors are still hopeful the issue will be resolved favourably.

Long list of achievements in first year for Community Action Teams

THE FIRST year of a two-year pilot project for Community Action Teams (CAT) has proved successful, says Councillor Trevor Cartwright.

"CAT was a new initiative designed to ensure that the Council understood the needs of the Community.

"Five CATs, led by ward councillors, were set up in the heart of the local communities and have successfully provided a channel for other public sector partners, such as the police and the fire and rescue service to convey key messages, engage more fully with the community and hear about their concerns and issues," he said.

Councillor Cartwright, Executive Member for Service, Performance and Improvement and Lead Member for the Community Action Teams, said CAT meetings had helped the Council understand what the public wanted in their communities.

Community involvement

They had also provided an opportunity to inform residents of important developments, enabling community members to join the Council and build a better future for the Borough.

BEFORE

In addition, there had been the opportunity for residents and community groups to bid for funds and improvements in their localities.

"To date, we have held four rounds of very successful CAT meetings and have just entered the fifth round.

"Residents have told us that they are concerned about many issues, including, among others, speeding vehicles, driving while using a mobile phone, graffiti, parking in Fareham town and surrounding areas, litter and anti-social behaviour," he said.

Encouraging survey

From a survey of those attending CAT meetings, 74.1% said it enabled them to have a say; 77.6% said the meetings met their expectations; and 79.3% said they would attend future meetings.

"The last CAT meeting involved young people, which should be done more to hear their views and raise interest and also help in the community," said Councillor Cartwright.

Neighbourhood initiatives

There are two funding streams associated with the CAT project – the Neighbourhood Initiatives Fund and the Clean and Tidy Neighbourhood Fund (see report in P2).

Here are some of the projects supported by the Neighbourhood Initiatives Fund:

- Equipment for a boxing club
- Blinds, tables and chairs at a drop-in computer room.

- Computer equipment for a youth participation project.
- Replacement benches.
- Footpath improvements.
- Flower troughs,
- Multi-media suite at a youth centre
- Street art project on three local skate parks.

Cash top-up

Further funding has been allocated for the next financial year, topped up to give £70,000 for Neighbourhood Initiatives and £30,000 for the Clean and Tidy Neighbourhood Fund.

Councillor Cartwright added: "This has been a very good year for the start of CAT and I look forward to further success in the coming year."

Our man in Westminster

By Mark Hoban MP for Fareham

As part of the Conservative Treasury team, I spent much time over the summer thinking about how the Government got us in a mess.

During the good times rather than save for a rainy day, Gordon Brown continued to borrow to the point that he has, according to statisticians, breached his own borrowing rules, which were meant to control government finances and are now in tatters. Now we are in more difficult times, he can't help families and businesses to weather the storm.

How do we put our public finances back into good order and ensure governments stick to the rules? We will set up an Office for Budget Responsibility to keep politicians on the straight and narrow when it comes to tax and spending. It will be like the old fashioned bank managers, the ones who would let you know that you were overdrawn and rather than offering more credit, suggested you might like to reduce your overdraft and live within your means. That's what the office will do. When Gordon Brown was overdrawn, like Oliver Twist he asked for more credit.

Once we have the public finances back in order, we will be able to do what government is meant to do, which is to be on your side. So when the economy is not going so smoothly, the Government has the money to help businesses and families, rather than doing what has happened this year, raising taxes on families with big hikes on car tax or asking small companies to cough up more.

Government is not about flashy gimmicks and wheezes; it is about doing the dull, sensible things that make real differences to families when it matters. It is about reassuring people that you have got a firm grip on what is happening. Our Office for Budget Responsibility shows that we are serious about putting our economy right.

Free swims for over 60s

But who pays for 10 Drowning Street's latest brainwave?

THEY ALWAYS look wonderful on paper...free bus travel nationwide for over 60s and now a new Government plan for free swimming for old and young.

But Labour's grandiose freebie schemes have one flaw. Who splashes the cash in the long run?

Concessionary bus passes are already forcing Fareham Council to swim against a rising financial tide and Conservative councillors fear free swimming sessions for under 16s and over 60s will plunge finances into deep water.

Nationwide bus passes started in April, but the scheme was not funded properly, leaving several councils with huge problems.

"In most authorities, the gap will have to be met by the council taxpayer and the additional costs could be significant," said Councillor David Swanbrow, Executive Member for Planning and Transportation.

And that is the worry following the Government's approach to councils asking them if they are interested in a grant towards the introduction of free swimming sessions.

Funding has been promised for only the first two years for the over 60s; no details have been given for the under 16s group and nothing beyond.

Councillor Connie Hockley, Executive Member for Community, said: "On the surface, this seems a wonderful idea provided it is fully funded and applies only to local residents, BUT – and there is always a catch in many schemes proposed by this Government – what happens after the first two years?"

"Is the initial funding sufficient or will the local taxpayers end up by subsidising another Government initiative?"

It's the question that's already been answered in respect of the concessionary fares debacle, for the Government pays only 43% of the cost in Fareham.

"The cost over the first four months suggests

At a stroke: Free-style may take on a new meaning for over 60s at Fareham swimming pool.

that by the end of the financial year the Council is likely to spend at least £280,000 on top of the £1.5m it budgeted for concessionary travel, with the possibility it could rise much further.

"This equates to a council tax rise for Fareham of 5%-6% on its own," said Councillor Swanbrow.

Councils have to pay for any pass holder's journey starting within their boundaries. For example, a Gosport resident travelling to Winchester will have to change at Fareham and it's Fareham Council which then pays for the rest of that traveller's journey.

"The Gosport resident gets the benefit of free travel, Winchester shops may well benefit, but all Fareham gets is the biggest slice of the cost – and the Fareham council taxpayer pays," said Councillor Swanbrow, who said the Council was asking the Government to re-assess a wholly unfair situation.

The Council has expressed interest to get funding for free swimming for over 60s, provided it is restricted to local residents..

Councillor Hockley said the Council was also interested in operating a scheme for free swimming sessions for under 16s which could be run during school holidays, but only for Borough residents and provided it was fully funded.

The Council also asked the Government for cash towards the cost of building a new swimming pool in the Western Wards.

She added: "We await the Government's decision with bated breath."

Borough crackdown on untaxed vehicles

THIRTY untaxed vehicles were clamped and impounded in a two-day crackdown across the Borough by Fareham Council, the Driving and Vehicle Licensing Agency and the police.

A further joint operation was planned for October.

The DVLA used a vehicle equipped with Automatic Number Plate Recognition equipment which identified any untaxed and uninsured vehicle.

The vehicle was then clamped and a notice attached stating that it had been seized and would not be released until a valid tax disc was obtained.

If a valid tax disc could not be provided, the vehicle was towed away to a storage pound until the owner provided a valid tax disc

If no tax disc was provided, the vehicle was crushed or, if of value, was sent to a further vehicle pound in the Midlands to be sold

Each day a vehicle is in the pound charges are incurred by the owner.

Vehicles shown by the ANPR camera to be uninsured were also removed.
